Learning Outcomes
Outcome Number	Description
01	Critically discuss a range of theories of organisational functioning, leadership and management.
02	Apply selected theories to critically analyse the actions of people in organisational settings and explore the health and wellbeing implications of these actions on individuals, teams and organisations.
03	Evaluate their own approach to organisational working, leadership and management.
04	Engage critically with academic sources and present ideas and arguments in a well-structured and coherent manner.
05	Demonstrate effective interview skills.

Learning, Teaching and Assessment Strategy
Key lectures will provide students with an overview of central concepts; seminars and online discussions allow for exploration of theoretical problem areas appropriate to students' own areas of interest. Key reading will be provided in advance of seminars to encourage student preparation and participation. Interactive exercises involving Careers and Employability Services staff and online interview simulation will allow students to develop and practice interview skills. Module will be assessed by a 2000 word assignment and a 20 minute interview.
